

CSCHAH Tour

The Canadian Science Centre for Human and Animal Health (CSCHAH) is home to Canada's only containment Level 4 laboratories and a unique facility housing diagnostic and research capabilities for both human and animal health.

The tour will highlight the history of CSCHAH, the safety and security features of the building and information about both the Public Health Agency of Canada's National Microbiology Laboratory and the Canadian Food Inspection Agency's National Centre for Foreign Animal Disease.

Photo ID is required for entry and close-toed shoes is mandatory for the tour. Also note that the CSCHAH is a scent-free facility.

IMPORTANT: For any non-Canadian residents, we will require a clear copy of their passport photo by Monday, August 27 for security purposes.

If you have any mobility issues, please advise in advance.
